LOCAL MATTERS.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The demand for carriages yesterday far exceeded the supply.

Green turtle soup at Pepper's to day at 11 o'clock. Families supplied from that time to 3.

Yesterday the attendance upon the Baptist Convention was much larger than the day previous.

Dr. Fuller, of Baltimore, one of the most distinguished divines of the present age, will preach to-night on Domestic Missions.

$20,160 was subscribed yesterday in the Convention for the erection and establishment of a Baptist Church in Rome, Italy.

There are two companies of U. S. soldiers stationed at Camp Russell, and remarkable to say, there is not a case of sickness in their hospital, nor has been for several weeks. Who says Raleigh is not healthy?

We regret the loss to the Convention of the Rev. C. T. Bailey, of Warrenton, N. C., who is confined to his bed with rheumatism. Mr. Bailey is one of the rising young ministers of the State, and a man of extraordinary talent and ability.

There has been more guano received at the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad depot this spring than has been shipped here for several years before. This is a good sign, and from this fact we may expect an increase in our crops this fall.

The Raleigh and Gaston Railroad Company are building at their workshops a new engine, which is expected to be completed about the first of July, and is expected to surpass any they now have on their road. The country moves.

The newly elected board of city commissioners hold their first regular meeting on Monday night, when it is expected they will elect the tax collector, clerk of market, chief of police and other city officers. We hope they will use discretion and elect only good men.

There was a larger congregation present at the Baptist church last night than at any time since the assembling of the Convention; the users were obliged to borrow nearly all the chairs and benches from the National Hotel to seat the lady portion.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Horace Waters, 451 Broadway, N. Y., advertises in another column that he will dispose of one hundred pianos, melodeons and organs at extremely low prices for cash.
See his advertisement.

Messrs. P. A. Dunn & Co., one of the best houses in Baltimore, announces through our columns that they are prepared to do all manner of commission business. Mr. Dunn is a native of Wake county, is well and favorably known throughout the State, was for many years connected with the superintendency of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, and we can safely recommend his house to the public.

Alex. H. Smith, of Scotland Neck, inserts his law card in our columns this morning. Mr. S. will practice in the courts of Halifax and the surrounding counties, and will attend to the collection of all claims. All business entrusted to him will receive prompt and faithful attention.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S COURT.—Commissioner Best on Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, rendered his decision in the case of U. S. vs. W. W. Woodell for having counterfeited money. The defendant was held to bail in the sum of $250 for his appearance at the June term of the Circuit Court for the District of North Carolina.

In the case of U. S. vs. W. S. Holloway from Granville, for violation of Internal Revenue laws, the Commissioner continued it until yesterday, when the case was recalled, and the defendant bound over to the June term of the Court in the sum of $500.

KEEP DOWN THE DUST.—M. W. F.
Huggins, of the National Hotel Stable, purposes to start a street sprinkler for Fayetteville street. All he wants is a little encouragement from the citizens.
This is an enterprise much needed. It should be pushed forward at once.
Let every merchant give a small sum and it will be done—ten cents a day.
Who will complain about a dusty street now?

THERMOMETER YESTERDAY.—The thermometer yesterday stood as follows mer.

VOL. I.

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1872.

NO. 61.

Southern Baptist Convention.

SECOND DAY.

FRIDAY, May 10.

This body opened this morning with a largely increased representation present.

Rev. Wm. Hooper, D. D. LL. D., and Rev. Basil Manly, D. D. LL. D., appeared and took seats.

The Convention met at 9 o'clock and according to a decision of yesterday, devoted half an hour to religious services. Dr. Brantley presiding.

The meeting was addressed briefly by Dr. Basil Manly, and Rev. W. H.
Buckner, Indian Missionary.

At 9 o'clock the President, Dr.
Boyer, called the Convention to order for the dispatch of business.

The minutes of yesterday were read, corrected and approved.

Rev. Mr. Cote, Missionary to Rome, Italy, was introduced and requested to address the Convention. He took the stand and after reading and interpreting three letters which he had recently received from Baptist pastors in Italy, continued:

I am indebted to my good friends the Jesuits of Rome for the pleasure of being here to-day. They have obliged me to come to this country to enter into fellowship, and request your aid and co-operation in giving the gospel to Italy. Three or four times, by the crafty counsels of the Jesuits, we have been driven out from our hired rooms, and obliged to change our place of worship in Rome, and I cannot blame the Italian government for it. We are free in Rome as you are in America.
There is a particular stipulation in the Italian constitution, called the statuto, which guarantees perfect religious toleration throughout Italy.

But half of Rome belongs to the priests or Jesuits. The other half belongs to the nobility and the merchants.
The nobles were created by pontifical authority, and are influenced by pontifical agents. The merchants are willing to rent or lease their houses to the highest bidder, whether Protestant or Catholic. But the Catholics, who are willing to make any sacrifice of money or time, who are willing to shed the last drop of their blood to thwart our purpose, will interpose, offer higher rates of rent than we bargain for, and thus compel the Courts to deprive us of our places of worship. If we had half the determination of our foes in Italy—half their earnestness, we would succeed.
We must be in earnest. The devil is in earnest, the Pope is in earnest, the priests are in earnest in all their efforts to undermine us, and we should be in earnest.

God has thrown open Italy for the reception of the gospel. The people of the South should build a church of their own there, so that the Italians might look upon our work as permanent and not temporary, as it appeared now; that house would be protected by the U. S. flag.

The speaker did not believe the temporal power of the Pope would ever be restored in Rome. The people had been deposed and restored there. Napoleon had overrun all Europe, but then Italy and Germany and other countries were divided. Now Italy and Germany were united and united together. He had no faith in man, but he believed in God's word, and that predicted the final overthrow of the temporal power of anti-Christ. We had shepherds and flocks in Rome, but had no folds. The people were willing to make sacrifices to build houses for themselves. We have no house in Rome, and have greater need for them there than here. Brothers from the North had proposed to build a Baptist house in Rome, but he wanted the Southern Baptists to do this. Then it would be their own church and their own property.

Dr. Cote was followed in a few pertinent remarks, during and after which the sum of $20,000 was pledged by the delegates from the different Southern States, with the assurance that the Baptist of the North would contribute $20,000 more to build a Baptist Church in Rome.

Rev. H. A. Tupper, Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board next addressed the Convention on the importance of this subject, proposing that ten delegates from each State agree to pledge their constituencies for $2,000 each for the Rome Mission.

The following responses were promptly made:

South Carolina,	$2,000
Maryland,	2,000
Georgia,	3,000
Virginia,	5,000
North Carolina,	2,000
Alabama,	2,000
Tennessee,	700
Kentucky,	2,000
Missouri,	2,000

During the call for the State of Missouri, Dr. J. B. Jeter, of Richmond, Va., stated that this mode of assessment was unequal. That all the States could raise the $2,000, but that larger States with a large Baptist population could and would contribute much more. He hoped the Convention would rise, as one man, and pledge the amount necessary. He would take the initiative by standing over 6 feet 2 inches, and pledging himself to go his full length in the accomplishment of the great design.

Stirred by the speaker's enthusiasm the whole body arose at his suggestion.
Prayer by Rev. Dr. Jeter.

Col. J. M. Heck proposed that the Sabbath Schools raise $1,000 towards this fund, pledging the Raleigh School as its Superintendent, for $100.

The following responses were made:

Greensboro,	$15 00
Newbern,	50 00
Mr. Thayer, of South Carolina,	100 00
Mr. Lee, of Alabama,	100 00
E. D. Gwin, of Alabama,	50 00

Mr. Gwin, of Alabama, pledged $50 as a contribution of little girls, from 5 to 12 years of age, composing a sewing society in his church. He desired, he said, that the "click of their needle should be heard in Rome."

Additional subscriptions were made as follows: Mr. Reynolds, of South Carolina, $10; General Fields, of Virginia, $10; J. C. Bailey $25; church at Chattanooga —; Broadus, of South Carolina, $30; Foreville $25; Wake Forest $25; Eaton's church, N. C., $10; Santee church, S. C., $15; Rev.

J. P. Pritchard for his Sabbath school in Texas, $25; High Point, N. C., $10; Mountain Creek, N. C., $15; Worst City, Ark., $25; Mt. Pleasant, S. C., $25; Leadville, Tenn., $25; Dandridge, Tenn., $25; Greenville Sunday school $100; Porter's Creek Sunday school $15; Frederick church, Md., $25; Wilmington church $25; Jackson Female Institute, Marion, Ala., $100.

Second colored Baptist Sunday school, Raleigh, through a colored man in the gallery, $10.

Dr. J. B. Jeter again pledged himself for all he could get his people to give.
Rev. Mr. Cote after it was announced that the necessary amount, $20,160 had been pledged for the Rome Mission, arose, and in a brief address tendered his hearty thanks to the Convention in behalf of his church.

Resolutions of the Convention, passed at a former session as follows, were read by the President, together with the response in sympathy therewith, received from English Baptists.

Resolved, That this Convention desires to express its solemn and deep conviction that conscience is beyond the limits of civil governments, and hereby expresses its earnest sympathy with Baptist brethren in England in their present efforts to establish this principle, whereby liberation of religion from State influences may be secured.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, signed by the President, be sent to the Hon. and Rev. B. W. Noel, requesting him to forward it to the proper authorities.

A letter was read from a Texas delegate, urging the return of the Convention to its former practice of holding biennial sessions.

Referred to a special committee of five.

The President announced the following Standing Committees for the Convention:

Mr. Levering, of Maryland, presented the report of the Committee on Creden-

The names of Rev. Mr. Tinsley and Rev. Mr. Cohen were on motion inserted in the list of visiting members.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was adopted.

The Committee on Religious exercises reported, recommending that the subject of Foreign Missions be considered in mass meeting on Friday night; Sabbath Schools at 11 o'clock a. m., on Saturday and Domestic Missions on Saturday night. Adopted.

The report of the Committee on Biennial Sessions of the Convention was made the special order for Saturday at 10 o'clock.

The chairman of several committees gave notice of time of conference, pending which, the President remarked that so much whispering was going on as to seriously interfere with the deliberations. He would especially request the ladies, their conversation being so sober and ennobling, and so likely to be of service to the cause of certain members, to preserve strict silence in the Convention. (Suppressed audible smiles on the floor and in the galleries.) Dr. Brantly offered a resolution, which was adopted, expressing the sympathy of the Convention with their late president, Dr. Mell, in his affections, and proposing to raise $600 to to the call: Messrs. Tupper $20, Brantly Pending the subscription, the Convention adjourned till 3 o'clock P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

3 O'CLOCK P. M.

The Committee on Permanent Fund of the Foreign Mission Board, reported as follows:

"That they unanimously recommend that no attempt be made to establish a permanent fund or endowment for the Board or its officers or expenses, and that only such sums as are so specially devised or donated, be applied to such purpose." Adopted.

Rev. H. F. Buckner applied to the Convention for contributions to clothe Indian children in the Indian territory, who are now being educated.

Dr. Broadus, of S. C., presented the report of the Committee on Home and Foreign Journal. (Recommends that it be printed on book paper, that it be more liberally distributed, and that a competent editor be employed at a salary.)

Editor Western Recorder, Mr. A. S.
Worrell, moved as a substitute, that the publication of the Journal be suspended, and that the matter intended for that paper be regularly given to the other different Baptist papers.

THE MEMORIAL CELEBRATION.—We regret exceedingly that our limited space will only permit us to give a brief and hurried description of the beautiful and impressive memorial exercises on yesterday. We, as reporter for the News, at the Southern Baptist Convention, left the church after the procession had moved from Capitol Square, but learn it was the largest and most imposing ever known in the city. The Rescue Steam Fire Company, No.
1, Lt. T. F. Lee, commanding, and Hook and Ladder No. 1, Capt. Lam-son, commanding, acted as escorts for the procession, which was led by the Marshals of Capt. W. C. Stronach, assisted by his aid, Jno. Bragg, and Jno. S. Pescud, Esq., C. W. Gassette, the regularly appointed Chief Marshal for the day was prevented by a severe attack of sickness from fulfilling his required duties.

Arriving at Oakwood Cemetery, the large concourse of people, including a great many of the delegates and visitors to the Southern Baptist Convention, assembled around the mound, near the grave of the lamented Gov. Worth, where the choir, organized for the occasion by Mr. Young, the musical instrument of the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution, assisted by Miss Carrie Jenkins, of the Baptist Female Seminary, as organist, sang the following beautiful and appropriate hymn, in a manner that touched every heart:

Comrades who have fought together, By the Southern Banner led, Gathered each post and station,
To give honor to the dead!

CHORUS.—Comrades who, with dauntless valor, Fought and won a soldier's grave, Deck the graves of those who dying, Left a soldier's honored name.

Fill the air with notes of sorrow, Moan and mournful strain,
Not the times they lived when with us, They'll not march to them again.

CHORUS.—Sadder notes—the notes of mourning, Wailling life and muffled drum, As with hands with flowers burdened To our comrades' graves we come.

Yonder mound, unmarked and lowly, Speak—"I mark a Soldier's grave";
He who softly sleeps beneath me, Died as died the patriot brave.

CHORUS.—We will ask no truer guardian, Better signal cannot trust, Than the tears and flowers sprinkled By the loving over his dust.

They are present in our memory, Would they knew that through the land On bright days of recollection, By their graves we mourning stand!

CHORUS.—Faithful hearts their homes will cherish Though they fought and fell in vain;
There are some hearts cannot perish, Love and honor still remain.

After the hymn, Maj. Seaton Gales came forward and in a brief but beautiful and appropriate address introduced the orator of the day, the gallant and chivalrous Gen. Wade Hampton, of South Carolina.

Though the General labored under serious disadvantages, owing to the illness of his family in not having time to prepare his address, yet it was a production of rare excellence, and elicited the highest praise from his learned and appreciative hearers for its patriotic sentiments and elegance of diction.

We hope the General will yield to the universal desire of all who heard him to have it published.

After the speech the choir sang an appropriate hymn, commencing as follows:

Oh! strew these graves with flowers!
Tis well, while Spring is near,
To mingle flowers and silent tears,
For those who moulder here!

Then o'er the grave Where sleeps the brave, We'll strew our fragrant flowers!

and continuing in a like strain through six verses. At its conclusion the ladies laden with their beautiful floral offerings, approached the graves, neatly which repose the sacred dust of the gallant dead, and each grave in its turn received the tribute of affection and love. It was a touching, noble, sublime sight. When we looked upon the scenes witnessed yesterday at the Confederate cemetery, when we saw the fair daughters of Carolina, and gentle hands scattering sweet flowers above the last resting places of those whose lives had been offered up as libations up to the shrine of their country—when we beheld the angelic sight of Heaven's "last best gift to man," with all of woman's purity, all of woman's love engaged in the sacred cause of honoring those whose cars are deaf to the voice of praise or blame—our heart was stirred with the profoundest emotions and we involuntarily exclaimed—God bless the fair daughters of North Carolina! Eulogy is vain—words are inadequate to convey the feelings of gratitude and pride that must fill the heart of every true North Carolinian when he witnessed the wonderful devotion of the true and lovely and matchless women of our own Southern land.

This duty performed, the large crowd quietly retired, the Fire Companies reorganizing, marched in procession back to the city, preceded by Stanley's brass band, and after parading several streets repaired to their respective halls and were disbanded. Thus ended with great success the memorial day of 1872.

Among the distinguished lay members in attendance upon the Southern Baptist Convention is the Hon. H. K.
Ellison, of Richmond, Va., well known as the successful candidate for Mayor of that city against the infamous Chatham.
Mr. Ellison is also the proprietor of the Richmond Dispatch one of the best newspapers south of the Potomac.

A SIGN OF GOOD FEELING.—The two Fire Companies (both composed of some of our best young men) were commanded yesterday by men originally from Massachusetts.

A clerk of the House Military Committee at Washington, a correspondent of the Tribune, has been discharged for the reason that he supported the Cincinnati Convention.

Mount Vesuvius is wanted for the STATE MATTERS.

Our friends throughout the State will place us under obligations if they will furnish us with any items of news that may transpire in their respective sections, as we desire to make this department specially full.

The pony-petting season at Beaufort commenced yesterday.

Nags Head will be opened for visitors this summer and fall.

Large numbers of rock are now being caught in upper Roanoke.

The crops in the Eastern portion of the State are suffering for the want of rain.

Vegetables are becoming abundant in the Greensboro section. So are flowers, roses, &c.

The municipal election in Lumberton resulted in the entire success of the conservative ticket.

The Democratic candidate for Mayor of Charlotte, Gen. Young, was elected by a majority of 120.

Edenboro has the official Masonic chair once occupied by General Washington as Worshipful Master.

The annual meeting of the Medical Society of North Carolina will convene in Newbern on the 21st inst.

J. C. HARPER, Conservative, announced himself a candidate for reelection to Congress from the 8th Congressional district.

The Western Union Telegraph Company are engaged in constructing a telegraph line along the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad.

We return our thanks to the Graduating Class at Trinity College for an invitation to a commencement party on the 13th of June.

The May Festival at Weldon, on the 16th inst., the occasion of the opening of the new Emory House, will doubtless be largely attended.

Dr. NERES MENDENHALL, the Conservative nominee for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, has written a letter of acceptance.

The Elizabeth City Carolinian says that place is one of the most progressive towns in the South. It takes the credit for the present prosperity to Northern immigration.

The fifty-ninth Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of North Carolina will meet at Salisbury on the last Wednesday in this month.

The Conservatives of Robeson county have instructed their delegates to the 6th Congressional District Convention, to present to the Convention the name of Col. N. A. McLean, of Robeson.

The municipal election in Fayetteville on Monday resulted in the election of Kelly, the Radical candidate for Mayor. The Conservatives gained a majority of four in the Board of Commissioners.

The Chowan Baptist Female College, located at Murfreesboro, is in a most flourishing condition. The number of attendants this session is larger than ever before.

The Elizabeth City Carolinian (Republican) says, "our platform is one of principles not of office." It is evident Dr. Palemon John was not in attendance upon the late office holders' Convention that met in Raleigh.

The Conservative municipal ticket was elected in Elizabeth city, on Monday. The Carolinian (Republican) says that a number were kept from the polls "by threats and intimidation." And this is the way Dr. John accounts for a Republican defeat.

The Granger European Hotel, in one of the new block of brick buildings on West Centre street, Goldsboro, was opened on yesterday. Mr. Granger was well and favorably known as a hotelier in Goldsboro a few years ago.

The nomination of Thomas by the Reds in the Second Congressional District does not set well upon the stomachs of the blacks in that District. John Hyman, of Warren, may probably run in opposition to the ticket.

The Elizabeth City Economist objects to our styling it a "literary weekly." It says that if we will assign it a peculiar place, we may call the Economist "a Political-Democratic-Conservative-Liberal-Republican Literary Weekly."

The steamer "Vesta," which was recently sunk between Tarboro and Washington, will soon be raised. At the time of the accident the steamer was making 10 knots an hour, and encountering a hidden snag, had a hole in her some fifteen feet in length.

Meeting of the National Democratic Executive Committee.

The National Democratic Executive Committee met in New York on Wednesday, twenty-eight States being represented.

The Committee agreed upon calling a National Convention to meet in Baltimore on the 9th of July, and publish the following call:

"The National Democratic Committee, by virtue of authority conferred upon them by the last National Democratic Convention, at a meeting held this day at New York, voted to hold the next Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States on the 9th day of July, 1872, at 12 o'clock, in the city of Baltimore. The basis of representation as fixed by the last Democratic Convention, is double the number of senators and representatives in Congress from each State under the apportionment of the census of 1870. Each State will send delegates accordingly; and we invite the cordial cooperation of all conservative citizens who desire the restoration of Constitutional Government and the perpetuation of republican institutions."

It is positively stated that Greeley has accepted that he will remain in the field no matter what the Republican Convention of Philadelphia might nominate, but that his withdrawal was possible should the Democratic National Convention make an independent nomination.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

John W. Forney interviewed "Night of Other Days"—Reminiscences of North Carolina—And View of the present state of Affairs of Our Nation, and the Prospects Before Us—Where We are and Whither we are going—Ratification, and Calculations as to the Future.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 8, '72. Since my last communication, events of the deepest interest have transpired. The Conventions at Greensboro, in your State, and at Cincinnati, have met and adjourned, and especially the latter have afforded much food for speculation.

On the day on which the Convention met, when no one could imagine what the results would be, and it was a subject of universal enquiry, I had an interview with Colonel John W. Forney, who happened to be in this city, and with whom I have enjoyed habits of friendship and intimacy for more than twenty years. He is now in the prime of life, and in the meridian of his intellect and experience. He spoke kindly of North Carolina and her sons. He had recently visited the State and pervaded it, from the Roanoke to the mountains.

He dwelt with enthusiasm on her luxuriant soil and lovely climate, on her resources and her public men. Perhaps one of the causes of this admiration of our State is that he has ties of kindred, distinguished in the annals of North Carolina, who sprung from the same stock in Pennsylvania. Hon. Peter Forney, who represented the Lincoln district in Congress from 1813 to 1815; and Daniel M. Forney, who was a member from the same district from 1815 to 1818, are blood relatives of his. He delighted to dwell upon the days when North Carolina was honored with a seat in the Cabinet, by Gov. Branch, Judge Badger, Governor Graham and Mr. Dobbin. Of the latter he spoke in terms of admiration and eulogy, as one of the purest and best men he ever knew. He alluded to the extraordinary fact as to the Cabinet of 1853, to which Mr. Dobbin belonged, (that of General Pierce,) as the only one in the history of the government, that remained, as organized at first, during the whole administration. No President from Washington to Grant has retained unchanged his Cabinet, except General Pierce.

"And what a cabinet of real statesmen!" he exclaimed. William L. Marcy (State), James Guthrie (treasury), Jefferson Davis, (war), Caleb Cushing, (attorney general), James C. Dobbin, (navy), Jas. Campbell, (postmaster general), and Robert McClellan (interior). Now, that the truth of history is not dimmed by party, and the grave has closed over very many of this cabinet, these suggestions come with full force and effect.

Col. Forney dwelt with much feeling and justice on the statesmen of North Carolina that he had been in the habit of calling to mind in former days of office. He spoke of the genius of our Badger, the eloquence of our Mangum, and the statesmanship of Erwin Graham; the genial natures of Ashe and Winston; the gallantry of our Shaw, Ruffin and others were subjects of his admiration. He spoke, as having met in his recent trip to our State, in terms of respect and kindness, of Burton Craige, of Salisbury, and General Clinman, of Asheville, and others, and stated that although he differed with them in some respects in views of policy, yet he admired their talents and esteemed their many virtues.

I ventured to ask him his views upon the questions of the day, and the probable results of the Cincinnati Convention. He, with peculiar emphasis, stated that on this occasion, he believed that Horace Greeley would be the nominee of that body. He stated that no one was more intimate with Mr. Greeley than himself, and he had been for years, that he was a monomaniac of this subject of being nominated and elected President. He expressed surprise and incredulity—but he reiterated his opinion. How wonderfully true his judgment been verified. Of Mr. Greeley, he spoke much at length—as a man of genius, yet devoid of practical and common sense; of great mental power, yet of childlike credulity; one who can theorize like a philosopher, yet whose theories are never practical, nor turned to any useful purpose; "who was all things by turns and nothing long."

Uncertain in his course and crochety in his conceits. In the beginning of the "platform" he was united with General Scott's idea, as to the secession of the South, and agreed to the secession of the "Erring Sisters!" to let them go in peace—and waved his historical white overcoat as an emblem of peace; another change came over him, and with his lofty Tribune begins the war cry of battle, and shouts "on to Richmond." The pillar and advocate of Grant at first, now his determined opponent, at the same time the denunciation of Southern policy; and the bondsman of its fallen leader, the advocate of Revenue Reform, and the opponent of Free Trade. The peculiarities of Greeley are to be attributed most to his physical organization and early training. Left early an orphan, he had to buffet a sea of troubles. His early history was that of an overgrown boy, timid and unsettled. One occasion is recorded, that when eleven years of age he imagined he saw, as he went home from a neighboring house, a wolf, glaring at him from the woods. He became so intensely alarmed that two young girls had to support him, and escort him home. It is a notorious fact that he never can bear the sight of blood. At one time he was an Ishamite, and abjured eating meat. He enjoys the reputation of a man of feeling and great charity, but this is the result of his inability to bear the sight of sorrow, and his aims are as much in relief to his own feelings as kindness to humanity.

Like an illustrious cotemporary, (Gen. Butler), physically Greeley is afflicted with a neural strabismus. He thinks with the power of a giant, his gigantic blows; but his blows are as likely to fall on the head of his devoted friends as his avowed foes. An anecdote so apposite to this peculiarity may relieve the tedium of this note. An aged countryman afflicted with this squinting infirmity was about to butcher his calf, and desired his nephew to hold it. The lad while thus engaged, exclaimed, "Hold on, uncle Ben; do you always hit with your axe, where you look?" "Certainly," was his reply. "Then," says the lad running off, "you may get some one else to hold that calf, for you will knock my brains out if you strike as you look."

Yet with all these peculiarities, Colnel Forney conceded that Greeley had great popularity with the masses. If, erratically, the people believed him honest. That like Hamlet they thought, "The times are out of joint, And on the cruel point I turn, And he is born to set them right."

His paper (the Tribune) is read every where, and is a tower of strength. Another fact, the Convention that nominated Greeley was not an obscure body. Every leading man, as also the nominees of that body, had been advocates of Gen. Grant; that they were secessionists in his party, and were terribly in earnest; that the men who had left the Grant ranks had left them forever; had embarked on another course, landed their forces, burnt their ships and cut off all return.

The nomination at Philadelphia next month, Col. Forney said, would result in the selection of Grant and Colfax, and with their forces thus divided, the administration will enter the fierce and furious battle of November. What other forces will be engaged in the conflict will show. The label ticket, headed by Judge Davis, and the Democratic ticket by Hancock, Hendricks, or some decided Democrat, may render the problem more complicated to solve.

In 1849, the secession of Mr. Van Buren from his friends lost the State of New York to General Cass, and elected his opponent General Taylor. May not the same results follow now by Greeley's secession from General Grant; and give the plurality to the Democratic nominee. In 1869, New York gave a majority of 10,000 votes against General Grant. Connecticut's position would be altered by a change of 50 votes—so would New Jersey and New Hampshire. Ohio's position would be changed by a succession of 5000, Pennsylvania by 2,500 votes, and even Massachusetts by 6,000 votes.

The next hundred days will prove as important to us as the hundred days of the First Napoleon were to France, and as full of interest in important results to the country. The impression here is that after the Philadelphia nomination, the Democratic party will meet about the 4th of July in St. Louis, Baltimore, or some other city and nominate a straight Democratic ticket. A party that gave 2,700,000 votes for Seymour to 3,016,000 votes for Grant, is not a feeble party. If Greeley cannot be elected himself, but can carry off 150,000 votes from Grant, the chances are that he will defeat him, and thus may prove himself the Warwick of the age, and elect the Democratic candidate. The time is soon to come, if not now here, to "consider the situation calmly and leisurely and cast our influence and votes, as future events will prove to be best for the interest of the nation."

FOR SALE.

WARRENTON HOTEL.

In consequence of old age and infirm health for the last seventeen years, and not being able to attend to the duties of a hotel, I have decided to sell the above property. It is located in the town of Warrenton, Warren county, N. C. The hotel contains some thirty rooms, and all necessary out-houses, and can accommodate from 50 to 75 guests comfortably. It is the only public house in the village. Warrenton is celebrated for its healthfulness, good society and schools. There are four churches of different denominations in the village, and it has been for many years a favorite resort of persons seeking health and all necessary comforts. This property will be sold lower than any property of the kind ever offered to the public. I deem it useless to give a further description of the property, as any person desiring to purchase, can come and examine the premises. I am determined to sell.

The hotel will continue open for the reception of the traveling public, and I invite all health seekers, in the summer, to call upon me. My terms will be moderate. Mrs. M. M. BROWNLOW, ap 20-11

ONLY A KISS.

Only a kiss—a trifling slight—Just eager lips one moment meet, Two faces lit with kindly light, One thrill across two pulses sent.

Strangers, so few bright, short hours past Strangers to-morrow, as before, Ah, not where our fate be cast, I hold thee, love, forevermore.

How small a thing can change the day!
Can wake despondence from its gloom, Crimson to life its sullen gray,
And bid our soul-flowers bluish and bloom.

You've touched my brow with festal wine, With honor proud as crowned kings;
The lips that once were pressed to thine Are sacred from all meaner things.

Others shall know what I but guess, And keep the joy I snatched to-day; But memory guards thy one caress For mine, mine only, mine for aye.

When souls have touched in lips that meet They part not sullen and cold, Still clings an influence subtly sweet, One touch that tines dross to gold.

Count it not loss, nor lavish waste, The little pearl you carelessly gave;
Gleams not the sun we only lose?
Must joy delay till love's at end?
